Training Description and Core Clinical Components:	Screening, brief intervention, and referral to treatment are effective in a variety of settings. Its effectiveness has been proven particularly in hospital emergency departments and trauma centers treating individuals with alcohol-related injuries. SBIRT has also been shown to be effective in primary care settings, where it is incorporated into other routine medical assessments such as measuring blood pressure. A major focus of the daylong training is on a detailed review of key motivational interviewing concepts and principles that are tied to effective use of the FLO (Feedback; Listen and Understand; Options Explored) brief intervention. Core clinical components that will be covered include: (1) brief intervention to raise awareness of risk and motivate change; (2) brief treatment for patients seeking help; and (3) referral to treatment for patients with more serious substance use-related problems.
Learning Objectives:	At the conclusion of the training, participants will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Define at least three key motivational interviewing principles and four MI micro-skills (O.A.R.S.); 2. Describe the background and rationale for conducting SBIRT in medical settings; 3. Explain at least three screening procedures for identifying patients engaged in at-risk substance use behaviors; and 4. Utilize brief intervention strategies and motivational interviewing techniques to motivate patients to change their at-risk behavior and/or seek treatment.
